James Bond is MIA and presumed dead. Agent M, head of MI6 believes his cover was blown during a joint task force operation between MI6 and the CIA in New York. James was last seen alive entering a top secret military laboratory before losing contact with HQ.

M has subsequently organised an elaborate hoax VIP event to lure all well known villains and femme fatales present during the operation, out of hiding to what they believe is a night of frivolity. Once trapped, suspects will be offered two choices: retrace their steps leading to Bond's disappearance in an effort to find him and flush out the person responsible for his demise in exchange for amnesty OR be arrested for treason against the British Empire!
