Being a communication to residents about Book Club Report Back

Dear fellow Residents,

7th May 2018

Book and Coffee morning held on the 17 April 2018

Sandy de Villiers's talk was a true treat. Relaxed and seated in a high wing-back chair, surrounded by the canvases of her talented art group, she introduced us to the major painters of the impressionist era. We heard about their lives and why this time in Paris produced so many outstanding artists with new and revolutionary ideas.

Then, when showing the pictures, she taught us how to look at them with new eyes, to recognize the distinctive brush strokes and styles, and how to appreciate their use of colour and shapes.

Her enthusiasm and knowledge of her subject was evident and made the morning's talk truly memorable.

And greater mention must be made of her student's work. Their paintings were excellent and added to the flair and colour of the morning.
