Changes to Bistro rules and meal packages

28 January 2023

Dear Residents,

By now you should have received the circular on the Bistro changes and introduction of meal packages. You will recall in discussions last year that strong views were expressed that the catering services should be funded by users, rather than by everyone through a general levy. During engagements on implementation of the new contract with Reef Catering which now does not include a management fee it became clear that some changes to the services offered by the Bistro would be required. These have been communicated in management circular no 02-2023.

These changes were informed by the need to ensure a sustainable catering service.

You will note that some of the changes, are not entirely new but rather a restatement of long-standing rules, which in recent times have not been fully implemented. These include the booking and confirmation rules.

We hope that you will work with management to ensure compliance with these rules, which are no different from general practice in the catering world.

ResCom has already commenced discussions with all organizers of activities which require catering on how to minimize the impact of the service fees on the activities, where the use of crockery and cutlery may be an issue.

Best,

Laurraine Lotter

Chairman
