THURSDAY MOVIE

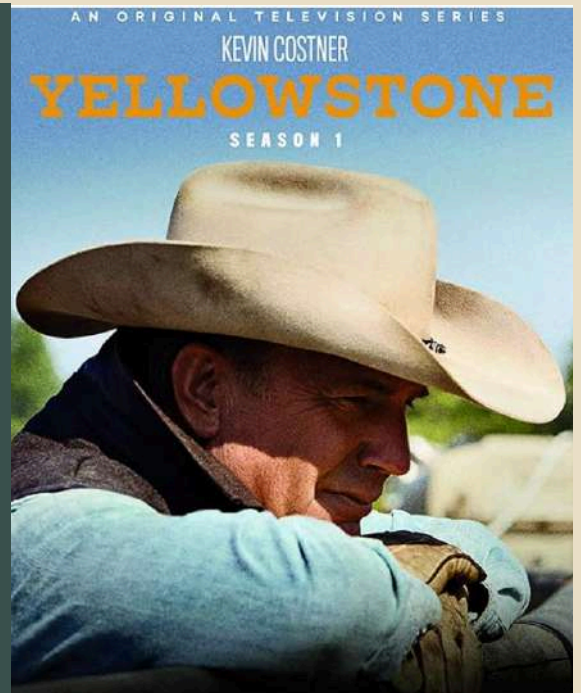

Following the original on a nearly scene-by-scene basis, The Upside starts off by presenting two New Yorkers on opposite ends of the totem pole.

On one side there's the mega-rich author and investor Phillip (Cranston), who's been paralyzed from the neck down by a hang-gliding accident and is confined to his bodacious Park Avenue penthouse.

And on the other end there's Dell (Hart), a sharp-tongued felon from the projects who needs to find a job to appease his parole officer, while hoping to get back in good graces with his ex (Aja Naomi King) and son (Jahi Di'Allo Winston).

SUNDAY SERIES

Yellowstone follows the Dutton Family, who own the Yellowstone Ranch, which is the largest ranch in Montana.

The patriarch of the family, John Dutton (Kevin Costner), is the sixth generation Dutton to own the ranch and leads his family through difficult times with developers, the national park, the bordering Broken Rock Indian Reservation, as well as internal family conflicts.

The series is filled with melodrama, dark secrets, murder, and many other sorts of scandalous events that make it feel like the entertaining 21st-century successor to Dallas.
