

Alderman JP Smith is the political head entrusted with overseeing the Safety and Security directorate.

The directorate acts as the first line of protection for residents against fire and disaster and ensures that City by-laws and traffic regulations are enforced through the Traffic Services and Law Enforcement departments. The Metro Police Department is dedicated to making the residents of our city safer and to combat crime.

The Events and Film departments are also incorporated in the Safety and Security Directorate and play a valuable role in developing our economy and promoting our City.

Book your seat at reception (by 22 November) to what promises to be a very interesting and insightful talk on safety and security in a world class city.
